Let the Little Folks Play

You can't begin the musical education of your children too early. Music appeals to the baby before the spoken word is comprehended.

A whistle—a musical top—the mother's lullaby—all make irresistible appeal to the infant. So music in its higher forms makes appeal to the growing child.

The Autopiano Electric

Will Teach Your Boy or Girl Music

Let them play first by music roll to get the general effect and outline—then practice by hand.

All this is easily accomplished with the one instrument—the AUTOPIANO ELECTRIC—a marvelous new development of the famous AUTOPIANO. The AUTOPIANO ELECTRIC comprises four instruments in one:

1. A Piano
2. A Player with treadles
3. A Player without treadles
4. A "self-operating" instrument

The AUTOPIANO ELECTRIC eliminates physical effort. It "makes play out of playing."

The children need not use the treadles—the electric motor will do the work.

Come in—see—and hear the AUTOPIANO ELECTRIC—if you have growing boys and girls.

Come in and see the AUTOPIANO ELECTRIC anyway—it will appeal to you.

NEW PRINCIPAL OF MILLS SCHOOL ARRIVES TO TAKE UP HIS DUTIES

Dr. Robert Day Williams, Formerly of Staff of Pomona College, Has Wide Experience

Dr. Robert Day Williams, new principal of Mills school, together with Mrs. Williams and the two children arrived this morning on the Wilhelmina from Claremont, California. H. Yost, one of the new members of the Mills school faculty is also with Dr. Williams. Mr. Yost is a graduate of the University of California. He will have charge of the grounds and farm at the Manoa institution.

"Our trip was but mediocre," said Mr. Williams this morning as the boat was pulling into the harbor. "In other words I am a poor sailor. When I get to feeling better, I shall be glad of a long talk."

Dr. and Mrs. Williams went directly to the school after landing. They will remain there for a few weeks until the regular cottage in which they are to live is ready for them. School will begin on September 21, and Dr. Williams will take charge at once getting in touch with things and getting acquainted with new conditions.

In Dr. Williams, the trustees of Mills school have secured a young man, but one of varied experience. Dr. Williams is a lover of athletics, a friend of boys, a worker in the movement to extend higher educational advantages to the people, an ardent supporter of settlement work, a college instructor in biology and in philosophy and psychology, and a student of the popular teaching of the Bible.

Mr. Williams was graduated from Redlands high school in 1899, then the same year to Pomona college. His work in college was well rounded, but his major study was biology. He finished Pomona in 1903 with the degree of bachelor of science. While in college he took active part in literary and debating societies and in Y. M. C. A. work. He played baseball, and held the college and inter-collegiate tennis championship for three years. Following the course at Pomona, he went to the University of California for a year of graduate work in the department of botany, zoology and geology. During the year he was an assistant in the department, giving a course in forestry. The following summer he collected specimens for the study of botany in Northern California, took the summer course at the university, and was a research member of the University Marine Biological laboratory at Coronado.

Mr. Williams returned to Pomona college as assistant in biology in 1904, giving courses in botany, zoology and embryology. In 1905 he was made instructor in botany and zoology. In 1906 he received the Yale fellowship given by the Yale Southern California Alumni Association. At Yale he took graduate work in philosophy and psychology, receiving the degree of M. A. in 1907, and that of Ph. D. in 1909.

In the fall of 1909 Dr. Williams was called back to Pomona college as instructor in the two subjects he had taken at Yale, and was appointed to the chair of associate professor. In 1913 he was made full professor of psychology and education, holding this position at the time he was elected to the principalship of Mills school. His summers since 1909 have been spent in out-of-door work, two of them as leader of summer camps for boys, two as Bible study leader at Y. M. C. A. student conferences, and two in scientific research work.

Dr. Williams was married in 1910 to Miss Jessie Hays of Kansas City, Missouri. Mrs. Williams is a graduate of Drury college in Springfield, Missouri, having both B. A. and M. A. degrees from that school. Following her graduation, Mrs. Williams spent a period teaching and then went for a year and a half of graduate work in Latin and Greek at Yale. Mrs. Williams has had wide experience in Y. M. C. A. work, and in various church, college and social clubs.

The faculty at Mills school for the year 1915-16 is as follows: Dr. Robert Day Williams, principal; John F. Nelson, vice-principal; M. L. Copeland, George Merritt, Jerome L. Mearns, H. H. Yost, William Barney, H. M. Blowers, Howard A. Batts, Misses Mary L. Stambaugh, Julia R. Peabody, Edna M. Byrd and Elizabeth J. Jones. Oriental teachers: Tan Kwan Yon and Tan Kwan Yon.
